

I am strongly opposed to any measure that would further loosen restrictions on broadcast media ownership. Broadcast media ownership is already concentrated in far too few hands, resulting in a uniformity and dumbing-down of content that does not serve us as a democracy. The airwaves belong to the public. As regulators, you betray your public trust by handing control to a few large corporations.